

MARKET PLUGGED WITH MACKEREL

SEINER LANDED OVER 300,000
POUNDS OF LARGE FISH
HERE YESTERDAY.

The local fish market was plugged with mackerel yesterday, a dozen of the fleet bringing in over 300,000 pounds, but because of the large amount, not all of the fish could be handled here, so some of the boats took their fares to Boston, where another glut was in order, causing prices to descend to a cent and a half per pound.

The fish were caught around Norman's, and were large and full of spawn.

For fresh fish, local dealers had a fair supply, the Boston schooner Wanderer coming in late Thursday evening with 80,000 pounds of shuck for Booth Fisheries Company. The shore fisherman Angie L. Marshall brought 35,000 pounds down to the Pew wharf to split, yesterday. Gill netters in two days' hauls landed 33,000 pounds.

MACKEREL GLUT AT BOSTON PIER

NEARLY A MILLION POUNDS
THERE THIS MORNING—PRICE
DROPS TO $1.65.

Dealers on the Boston fish pier had the heaviest mackerel receipts of the year and one of the biggest days in history this morning. Twenty-four seiners were on hand when the opening bell rang with from 12,000 to 65,000 pounds of fresh mackerel. The total was 915,000 pounds and the bottom "dropped out" of the market. Mackerel sold at 1.65 cents per pound. There were 16 other arrivals with 408,000 pounds of groundfish and 137,000 pounds of mixed fish. Groundfish prices were fair.

Start Re-Survey Soon.

Preparatory to beginning a re-survey of the Georges fishing banks, off the Massachusetts coast, the steamer Lydonia, in the service of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, arrived at the army base, Boston last night to take on supplies, coming up from Norfolk by way of Provincetown. Lieutenant G. D. Cowie in command of the boat, plans to start for the banks next week, and later, will be joined by the Oceanographer, formerly J. P. Morgan's yacht Corsair.

The purpose of the survey of the banks is to determine whether any changes were caused in the bottom by the earthquake of last November.

SALT FISH IN FROM ICELAND

STR. CARMEN BRINGS LARGE
FARE FOR GORTON-PEW.

With 2,000,000 pounds of salt fish in her holds, the freighter Carmen arrived from Iceland on Saturday afternoon, for the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company, being the largest salt fish fare to arrive for a year. Fresh fish receipts locally were light over the week-end, being confined to a couple of seiners, and an off-shore dragger. Gill netters did not lift their gear yesterday, and their landings on Saturday were only 18,000 pounds.

The Cape Porpoise schooner Richard J. Nunan is here to fit for swordfishing.

N. F. Cod News.

There is nothing new to report this week. The prices offered in consuming markets are anything but good. Large quantities of fish are being shipped away. There is no big money being made at present. Better times are ahead, however.—St. John's Trade Review.

Shad in Market.

Eastern shad are in moderate supply and according to reports the catch promises to be light this season.

N. S. Lobsters Plenty.

Lobsters have been in good supply from Nova Scotia and prices are unchanged. They have come forward in good order and run about half chickens.

Took Bait

Sch. L. A. Dunton arrived at Edgartown on Saturday baited and sailed for Georges halibuting. Alewives are still plenty there.
